

Images from Diversity in Science

Center for Hearing and Communication

A group of deaf and low hearing female scientists from the Center for Hearing and Communication during our Mexican Volcano session.

SFCE facilitator Myrna Meeroff helping students create a volcano

SFCE facilitator and ASL interpreter doing an experiment about Newton's Laws

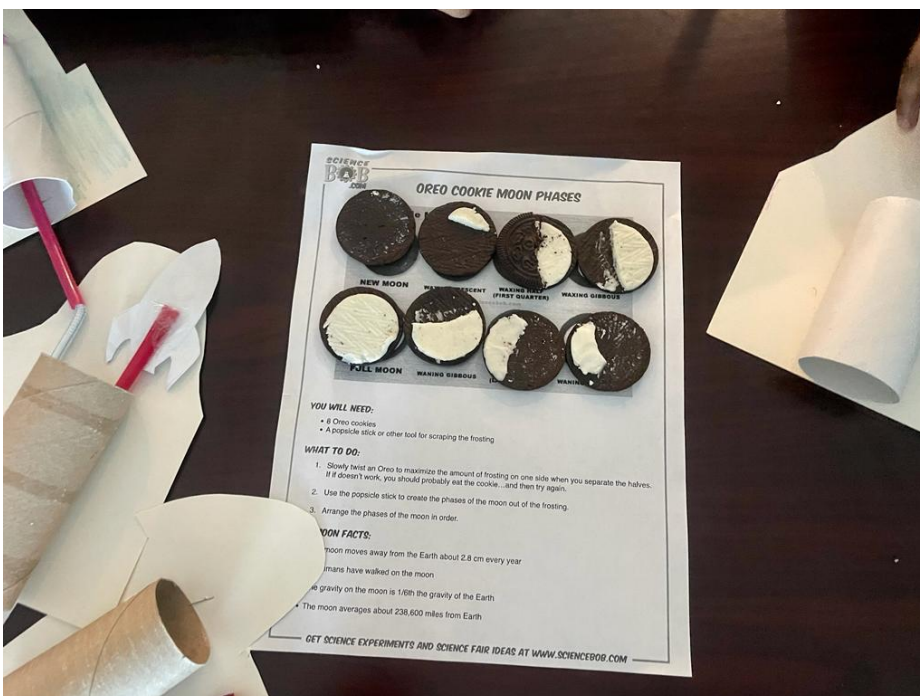

SFCE facilitator Myrna Meeroff and ASL interpreter helping students with homemade catapults.

LA Lee After School Care

Participant displays his pizza that we used to add and subtract fractions during the Pi and Pie program.

Participants collaborate to create the phases of the moon using oreo cookies during our To the Moon program.

Participants examining the liquid in the dissolving jelly beans experiment

Participants made maracas using plastic egg and jelly beans and danced the Mexican Hat Dance.

Young at Art Artreach Program

Participant make a Ukranian Batih using jingle bells and egg cartons during Jingle all the Way

Participants learn about magnetism using jingle bells, plastic cups and magnetic items in the classroom.

